Che Figata!

Ward + Gray's debut lighting collection is such a gem. Each piece is crafted in Venice, Italy by a family-run glass factory and celebrates Venetian heritage and coastal nostalgia. $3,000; wardandgray.com

Sweet Cheeks

Influencer Toni Bravo is the "CEO of Blush"—and I'm loving the two shades she created with Tower 28. Their GetSet Matte Powder Blushes now come in Downtown Daiquiri (a bright coral) and Sunset Shirley (a warm raspberry) and combine the benefits of a setting powder with a richly pigmented blush for 12-hour fade-proof color and blurred skin. $22; tower28beauty.com

Chill Out

Canadian design darling Ashley Montgomery launched a limited-edition collection of hand-crafted ceramics with Martha Monica Ceramics. The beautiful wine buckets can also be used as a vase and bring lived-in charm to any celebration or space. (P.S. See her design work on page 114!) From $170; ashleymontgomerydesign.com

Piece of the Puzzle

Looking for a great gift for the design lover in your life? This Frank Lloyd Wright 500-piece puzzle from Galison should fit the bill. It features the iconic multitude of patterns and designs on the painted and partially carved Oya stone mural he created for the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo. $19.99; galison.com

Smart Serum

California Naturals is changing the haircare game—and doing it at an accessible price point! Re:GRO is a nontoxic, fragrance-free, and side-effect-free scalp serum proven to promote new hair growth and reduce hair loss. It has 5% Capixyl®, which is clinically shown to spark new growth, along with caffeine, biotin, and botanical oils like rosemary and pumpkin seed. $19.99; thecalifornianaturals.com
